Becker's Optimum Health series. A typical diet consists of grains, legumes, refined sugars, preservatives, additives, and dairy. These are some of the types of foods that some health experts are starting to believe are causing many health problems such as inflammation, obesity, diabetes, autoimmune diseases, cancer and allergic reactions in our bodies. Here is a statistic from The World Health Organization (WHO). In every region of the world, obesity doubled between 1980 and 2008, says Dr. Ties Boerma, Director of the Department of Health Statistics and Information Systems at WHO. Today, half a billion people (12% of the world's population) are considered obese. A simple solution to this problem is the Paleo diet or lifestyle. Our ancestors ate this way for 2.5 million years with very little obesity or disease. Our ancestors provide undeniable proof that a Paleo diet can provide our bodies with optimum health. The Paleo diet is one of the easiest diets to follow and mainly consists of meat, vegetables, fruits, and nuts and seeds.
